Broadmoor Braces for Nov. 8 Election

By NANCY STANCILL

California's last active police district will hold a crucial election Nov. 8.

The Broadmoor Police Protection District's 2,086 voters will be charged with electing two Police Commissioners to its three-person commission.

Residents in the unincorporated area of about 7,000 that nudges the borders of Daly City and Colma believe that voters have a clear-cut choice among the four candidates.

Two of the candidates, incumbent commissioners John (Jack) McCloskey and Dean Davenport, believe that the most sensible solution to district police protection is to contract with Daly City.

The two challengers, Randy Wall and Joseph Fillo, are strongly convinced that the district can resurrect its independent Broadmoor Police Department, defunct since Dec. 31, 1976.

It's most likely that residents will elect a McCloskey-Davenport or a Wall-Fillo combination, though all four candidates claim to be running separate campaigns.

As is usually the case in the small-town, heated atmosphere of the unincorporated Colma-Broadmoor community, the campaign has been rife with charges and counter-charges that have clouded the issues.

The issues appear to revolve around the following questions:

- What will either a Broadmoor department, Daly City contract or other alternative cost the district taxpayers?
- Can the district maintain its tax base?
- Can the insurance problems which led to the Police Department closing be resolved?
- What do the people want?

All four candidates come up with different estimates on what it would cost to operate an independent department once again, provided that the insurance coverage question can be settled.

McCloskey estimates that it would cost $250,000 to $300,000 to operate an independent department on a yearly basis, while Davenport estimated $275,000.

Both men noted that in addition to the liability insurance in question, other insurance costs have increased, as have costs of salaries and communications.

However, Fillo believes the department can be run at $230,000 annually and Wall put his estimate at $240,000.

Wall said he took Broadmoor's 1974-75 budget, at a $185,000 yearly level, and computed 10 per cent inflation per year to arrive at his $240,000 estimate. He noted that the 1974-75 budget included seven officers and three part-time police personnel.

Broadmoor's Police Commission last year spent $152,000 during six months of Police Department operation and six months under contract with Daly City. The commission also owes about $35,000 for police service

Dean Davenport Sees Independence Threatened

DEAN DAVENPORT

Dean Davenport has been a Broadmoor Police Commissioner for two years.

In that time, the 50-year-old private investigator said he's seen the viability of an independent Broadmoor Police Department threatened.

Davenport believes that San Mateo County's Local Agency Formation Commission meant business when it voted to lift the policy ban on piecemeal detachments from the Broadmoor Police Protection District.

The commissioner thinks that when the new policy becomes effective in December, successful annexation applications will begin to diminish the district's assessed worth.

He points out that an annexation application from several large commercial property owners in the district is already in preliminary stages. The application is for detachment of 80 acres between

'Personalized Service' Is Joseph Fillo's Goal

JOSEPH FILLO

Joseph Fillo recalls the days when the now-defunct Broadmoor Police Department would enter a resident's house to take the burning cookies someone forgot out of the oven.

The candidate for the Broadmoor Police Commission believes that's the kind of "personalized service" that the residents of the unincorporated area want.

To that end, the 55-year-old grocery store manager is emphasizing in his campaign a return to the department's previous independence.

He doesn't want the current, six-month service contract with Daly City to become a permanent arrangement for the unincorporated area.

"Daly City Police Department is larger and the coverage is more impersonal," he said.

The candidate, who is an officer in the Broadmoor Property Owners Association, has lived in the Broadmoor area for 21 years.

The challenger is critical of incumbents Jack McCloskey and Dean Dav-

John McCloskey Believes His Position Vindicated

JOHN McCLOSKEY

Broadmoor Police Commission's most veteran member is easily the most talked-about figure among the four candidates for election Nov. 8.

John (Jack) McCloskey has served on the Police Commission for eight years. He's been its chairman since 1975.

And in that tim , the 40-year-old San Fra cisco firefighter has be the target of some mes intense criticism. H was the subject of a recall election attempt that failed two years ago.

In the past year, the attacks have centered around his support of a service contract with Daly City. He's been shouted at, cursed and booed by a core group of residents who oppose any relationship with Daly City.

On one memorable occasion, McCloskey listened calmly as an irate resident delivered a broadside on the commissioner's parents' child-raising methods. The comments came during a public meeting.

But McCloskey believes his most widely criticized

Randy Wall's Purpose: 'Department Operating'

RANDY WALL

Randy Wall says he's a candidate with a single purpose.

"My number one priority is to get the Broadmoor Police Department back in operation," he said. "That's the way the people want it."

Wall, a 38-year-old general contractor who has lived in the Broadmoor area for 12 years, was the first of two challengers to announce his candidacy to the Broadmoor Police Commission.

He's been a steady participant in Police Commission meetings, speaking out often to express the view that the Broadmoor-unincorporated Colma area should remain independent of its next-door neighbor, Daly City.

"I like belonging to Broadmoor and the feeling that we are setting our own destiny," he said.

However, the candidate noted that the primary reason he's running for one of the two seats is that he doesn't believe incumbents Dean Davenport and Jack McCloskey listen to the voice of the people.

"Proposition U passed by a 3-1 margin to maintain the Police Commission," he said of the referendum he campaigned for in 1976.

Though Proposition U gave the Police Commission the power to double the tax rate to a maximum $1.50 per $100 level, Wall doesn't believe the commission was justified in taking that step a few months ago.

"Just because $327,000 was available, they didn't have to spend that amount," he said, referring to the 1977-78 maximum level budget set by the commission.

Wall concedes that the police district tax for most

Rally Becomes A Confrontation

A rally held by the Lincoln Park Library Committee Sunday developed into a confrontation between its organizers and members of the Daly City city staff.

The Lincoln Park Library Committee, an ad hoc committee apparently organized by the Original Daly City Protective Association and including members from three other homeowners associations, held the rally to protest a proposal to locate the city's planned multi-purpose center on Mission Street.

About 12 persons, most of them city staff members who have been instrumental in planning the proposed Mission Street facility, walked out towards the end of the meeteing.

Ed Tomasello, a recreation staffer who has been working on the city's Housing and Community Development Act (HCDA) Task Force to spend the $391,000 in federal funds allocated to start up the project, objected to a resolution that didn't include the vote of staff members present.

Tomasello told the moderator, Harold Calder, that he was a Daly City resident and taxpayer, and should be allowed to have a voice in the matter.

Calder, chairman of the ad hoc committee and of the Crocker Neighborhood Association, responded by asking for two separate votes — one of the residents present and one of the staff.

Most of the staff members, who had been presented to the meeting by Daly City Mayor Albert Teglia as resource people for residents' questions, got up and left.

The vote of residents then was taken at 38-0 to "strongly urge the City Council of Daly City to grant the Lincoln Park site for the multi-purpose center and library."

The resolution at the rally set the stage for a large protest expected at a Nov. 7 meeting of the City Council.

Council has requested further information from staff on a proposal to locate the combination of facilities for social services, library and recreation at the 1.35-acre site adjacent to the War Memorial Building.

The owners of one of the Mission Street parcels the city plans to acquire for the large building, Art and Adrianne Sofos, have protested city proposals to start condemnation proceedings.

They have been backed up by Old Daly City Protective Association directors Conrad Pavellas and Ernie Pezzola, who have protested that such a move would take valuable commercial property off the tax rolls.

The resolution approved at the Sunday rally, which contained 16 parts, also mentioned that Lincoln Park was choice of 141 people out of 246 in the eastern Daly City area, that it is the most densely populated area of eastern Daly City and that City Council "has never been presented the option of this Lincoln Park site by staff."

City Council must make a quick decision on the matter, however, or be prepared to lose possibilities of future federal funding if it does not meet a Dec. 1 guideline for committing monies to be spent.

Partial Victory For Colma in Suit

Colma won a partial victory Monday in a San Mateo County Superior Court hearing involving a suit filed against the City Council and the city clerk.

Although trial of the suit contesting city actions concerning a proposed K-Mart development has been postponed until Dec. 12, Judge Gerald Ragan Monday acted on several motions requested by attorneys in the case.

The judge ruled that Colma acted within its legal bounds in holding aclosed meeting June 21 between the City Council, city clerk and city attorney to discuss possible litigation.

In granting the summary judgment, Ragan also threw out the Brown Act violation charge against the City Council and City Clerk Frances Liston. It won't be a part of the Dec. 12 proceedings.

The charge was brought by San Francisco attorney James Paul Green on behalf of Colma resident Domenic Martini.

In the Martini suit, action is requested on a petition brought before City Council several months ago.

The petition, signed by 71 or more than one-third of the small city's registered voters, asks that the City Council hold a referendum on a zone change the council granted to E. N. Maisel.

The developer proposes to construct a 10,000 square foot development on a 10-acre parcel at El Camino Real and Serramonte Boulevard.

The council chose not to act on the residents' petition after City Attorney Robert Cornell reported that it did not meet procedural requirements.

The developer, acting as an intervener in the suit, appeared before the judge Monday to ask for a motion regarding Green's clients.

Stephen Cassidy, attorney for Maisel, requested that Green be required to name his client before April 27, when Martini became active in the matter.

Green has opposed the proposed development since its inception last year, saying that it will cause traffic and flooding problems and spoil Colma's quiet cemetery business atmosphere.

But Ragan denied the motion, saying that it had

An Editorial

Elect Fillo, Wall On Nov. 8

Voters of the Broadmoor Police Protection District will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect two candidates to the Board of Police Commissioners. At issue is the important matter of how best to provide effective police services for Broadmoor's 8,000 residents. After studying all aspects of this matter, including the qualifications and outlook of the four candidates on the Nov. 8 ballot, we believe the interests of the residents of the district will best be served by electing Rayford E. Wall and Joseph Fillo to this board.

We understand the argument presented by board incumbents Dean O. Davenport and John F. McCloskey, Jr., when they assert that they want police protection for Broadmoor provided in the most economical way, which they contend is by contract with neighboring Daly City. But we are more impressed by the decisive preference expressed by the citizens of Broadmoor, through the overwhelming majority given Proposition U on the ballot last November, to continue and maintain an independent police department in that community. We think that mandate should be honored, and incumbents Davenport and McCloskey have made clear they have no intention of doing so. Wall and Fillo, on the other hand, are committed to carrying out this decision of the electorate.

Nor are we convinced that provision of an independent Broadmoor police department, including adequate insurance coverage, must be as costly as contended by the incumbents. Comparison with other police departments of comparable size in Bay Area cities leads us to agree with candidates Fillo and Wall that the independent department favored by the voters can be provided for total expenditures approximating the contractual arrangements with an outside department.

Rayford Wall, a general contractor, and Joseph Fillo, a retail store manager with several years of management experience, are fully qualified to make important contributions to the work of Broadmoor's Board of Police Commissioners. They have also shown a sensitivity to community interests and desires which will help the board's work.

We do not question the sincerity and dedication of incumbents Davenport and McCloskey, and commend them for their conscientious work as commissioners. We are convinced, however, that the interests of the district as a whole will be advanced best by electing candidates Wall and Fillo.

The Post recommends, therefore, that Rayford Wall and Joseph Fillo be elected to the Board of Police Commissioners in Broadmoor on Nov. 8.

The Prince Moved About Briskly

By GEORGE GOLDING

Moving with Charles, Prince of Wales, through the San Francisco Bay Area is a lesson in respect for organization and stamina.

Newsmen accustomed to chasing movie stars and politicos were complaining Friday of tired feet and sore legs as the heir to the English throne was hustled from hotel to bank to bridge to BART to boat to campus to city hall.

Batches of reporters and photographers were left behind at times as the police-escorted prince swirled through traffic in a blaze of red, yellow, blue and white flashing lights.

And all through the day, which started on Nob Hill when Prince Charles walked out of the Fairmont Hotel and ended after he boarded a private yacht off the San Francisco Marina, the princely entourage kept on schedule.

When the prince was scheduled to be lunching with Trudy Martin of Millbrae at the University of California, he was lunching. When he was scheduled to leave, he left, no matter what size or humor of crowd confronted the royal party.

Saturday Prince Charles was scheduled to leave the Fairmont at 8:15 a.m. for the Presidio of San Francisco. He was to leave there at 8:50 a.m. via helicopter to the Sterling Winery in Napa Valley, and to depart for Davis at 10:20.

If Friday was any indication, that schedule will be adhered to exactly.

At 9 a.m. he and his swarm of local, state, and federal security officers moved out of the Fairmont and boarded a cable car to ride downhill to the Bank of America.

They moved through masses of cheering onlookers and a noisy crowd of Irish sympathizers. They pressed into the bank to meet its president, and past Helen Butterfield of San Francisco who sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales" in a rich operatic voice.

The day's activities had been scheduled far in advance, a condition which produced a number of coincidences.

While Prince Charles was riding a cable car down Nob Hill, for example, Governor Brown was dedicating a new BART station in Richmond. The prince will fly to Sacramento today, to visit the governor.

One BART passenger who stumbled off his train into Oakland Friday just as the prince arrived said he might as well not go to work at all. First he had been delayed by the governor 20 miles north, now he was being prevented from getting to his job by the barricade of police around the prince.

Late in the day, Prince Charles arrived at San Francisco City Hall to be formally welcomed by Mayor George Moscone and to meet British-Americans prominent in the Bay Area.

The mayor had welcomed a Saudi Arabian prince to the city only a day earlier, yet apparently no one had arranged to have the two visiting princes meet each other.

Mayor Moscone handed Prince Charles a key to the city and a 142-year-old history of California printed in England. The same day, Mayor Moscone had welcomed to the city a German brewmaster who had confused Bangor, Me., with San Francisco.

Even more jarring was the fact that the city's famed "Hooker's Ball" was taking place across the street, while the prince marched down City Hall's marble stairs to music played by the Coast Guard band.

Against the backdrop of the Hooker's Ball, the Irish protesters outside in the rain appeared normal. Their small cardboard caskets dangling from parking meters, their butcher-paper signs wilting in the damp, the protesters made a sorry sight.

They had been persistent, however, tagging along all day as the prince was hurried from point to point and from visit to appearance.

Neither the protestors nor the far more numerous young ladies who squealed and clapped, slowed down the princely entourage.

At University of California, the escort of uniformed and plainclothes officers led Prince Charles directly into a mass of thousands of people, some cheering, some jeering.

Along the scheduled path they moved, as hundreds of young people scurried to get glimpse after glimpse of the young future king.

"Ooh, why are we doing this?" one girl asked another as they scampered through the wooded campus "We've already seen him twice?"

"Yeah, but isn't he cute?" answered her companion as the two girls raced ahead.

At Berkeley, the prince addressed two gatherings of students and faculty in closed sessions after the private lunch with university officials and leading students.

He also shook or touched dozens of hands, reaching through his circle of guards to greet onlookers, as he had done all day.

At Oakland City Hall he stopped briefly to shake hands with two women, Rachelle Abrams and Anita Walls. He asked them where they worked.

"I said I worked in the Department of Manpower Development," reported Rachelle, "and he asked me if there was a department of womanpower. That's what he said. I think he's nice."

Ronna Brown, a pretty brunette student body officer at the University of California who had lunched with the prince, said she also thought he was nice. He was polite and pleasant throughout the meal, she said.

Cahill Flaherty of San Pablo had less kind things to say. Speaking to thousands of people outside California Hall on the campus, the middle-aged Flaherty tried to explain the trouble in Ireland. The only fighting there, he said, is in the area occupied by troops of the British Crown.

But Cahill was drowned out by the Cal marching band, which was drowned out by cheers of the crowd as Prince Charles left the building.

And from then on, only the solid phalanx of officers moved Prince Charles through the crowd to his next assignment, where he appeared precisely on schedule.

'Duke Ellington Night' at Daly City Library

Tomorrow will be Duke Ellington night at the Serramonte branch of the Daly City Library!

Mrs. Virginia Tierney, president of the Daly City Friends of the Library, has announced that Louise Ellington, songstress and relative of the late "Duke," will be the guest book reviewer at the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Miss Ellington, formerly of Chicago, now lives in the Bay Area. She will look familiar to many people, for she has appeared in many television commercials and has sung in supper clubs all around the nation. In addition to reviewing a book about her father's first cousin, she will sing some of the songs made famous by him.

EVER NOTICE what keen memories and intelligence children have when it comes to things like candy? Well, 6-year-old Miriam Telles of Daly City proved that when it comes to jelly beans, no one knows as much as the under-12 set.

The petite miss made the winning estimate on the number of jelly beans in the candy jar at the Balboa High School alumni picnic.

TICKETS ARE available to the Friends Outside benefit Sunday at Riordan High School.

The San Francisco Boys Chorus will perform the youth opera "All The King's Men," during the 3 p.m. program.

For tickets, contact the Friends Outside office, 136 Church Street in San Francisco.

MRS. JOSEPH Vollert, chairwoman of the annual Sodality breakfast for the Westlake Catholic Women, reports that all is ready.

Father Parenti will moderate the event, which will be held Sunday in the church hall after the 9 a.m. Mass at Our Lady of Mercy.

For reservations contact Mrs. Vollert.

NEXT WEDNESDAY the Daly City Senior Citizens will hold their annual bazaar in the Lincoln Park memorial club house, 901 Brunswick St.

Mrs. Helen Villalba is chairwoman of the bazaar, assisted by Mrs. Louise Buttle, needlework table; Mrs. Anne Alcalde, white elephant booth; Mrs. Laura Madding, plants; Mrs. Isabel Ryan, cakes and cookies; Mrs. Erna Kohlhauf, clothing; Mrs. Lena Dugoni, new articles; Mrs. Sadie Van Hecke, kitchen and Mrs. Mary Rodgers, jewelry.

The sale will be from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

HAVE A "fish" in your family? Many people have children who would rather swim than eat — Can you believe that?! — and, if you have such a member in your abode, Chip Zimmerman would love to meet that youngster.

Zimmerman the coach for the Daly City Dolphins Aquatics Club, is seeking new talent for the teams, which compete in the American Athletic Union (AAU) sanctioned swim meets.

Age is no barrier, children must be able to swim the length of the pool twice, using any stroke they like. Team members swim in competition, in fun meets, relays, for which they prepare by training each week day from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m.

For details on Nov. 15 tryouts, contact Zimmerman at the Westmoor pool or call Mrs. Terry De Martini, president of the parents club; Mrs. Carla Beedle, past president and vice president-elect; or Mrs. Lynn Bipes, treasurer.

Other new officers of the Parents' Club are Mrs. Mary Chamberlin, secretary; Mrs. Judy Segol, awards chairman; Mrs. Alicia Metzer and Mrs. Judy Babin, Ways and Means committee; Mrs. Roz Morino, publicity; Doug Dawkins, timers and judges; Mrs. Lynne Bolton, telephone committee; Mrs. Cherie Foge, inside publicity; and Mrs. Heather Wong, membership chairman.

IF YOU attend Mary's Help Hospital Guild's Christmas boutique you will view a delightful doll house, designed and built by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Przyborowski.

The white colonial-style house is two stories high and completely furnished.

The house will be awarded as part of the guild's hospital fund-raising campaign.

This year's boutique will begin with the champagne preview Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria.

MRS. KATHY Ventrello, a teacher of flower arranging and a former president of the Hilltop Garden Club, spoke at the Daly City Garden Club meeting last night in the War Memorial Community Center on Mission Street.

Mrs. Carol Alba reports that the topic was "Christmas Ideas and Decorations."

Erwin Kreuz Finally Made It to Bay Area

Erwin Kreuz, the German tourist who mistook Bangor, Maine, for San Francisco, got his first flavor of the Old West Friday night at the Cow Palace in Daly City.

Kreuz, who arrived in San Francisco Friday as the guest of a San Francisco newspaper, spent his first evening in the Bay area dining on barbecued steak, tortillas and beans.

The stocky German was a special guest of the Cow Palace at the opening night of the gala Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show and Livestock Exposition.

Kreuz mistakenly got off a jet headed for San Francisco from Germany when it stopped for refueling in Bangor, Maine. When he discovered his error after three days of sightseeing in Bangor, he was invited for a three-day trip to San Francisco anyway.

"He had indicated a wish to see some of the Old West," said Dick Skuse, Cow Palace director of public relations. "What better way than to come to a rodeo or horse show?"

Officials at the Cow Palace said there would be horses for the visitor to ride and veteran cowboys to teach him the art of roping.

Kreuz was presented with a spanking new cowboy hat in the main area.

"We're trying to help him have some fun," said Skuse.

Election

provided last summer by the San Mateo County Sheriff's Department.

The district currently has a $327,000 budget, set at the maximum level that a maximum tax rate of $1.50 per $100 can raise.

The budget has become a major source of controversy in the campaign.

Commissioners Davenport and McCloskey said the maximum budget was set for the purpose of having funds available to cover $1 million in claims against the district."

The two commissioners charge that one of several lawsuits, a $150,000 case involving a police assault charge against a third commissioner, Wayne Johnson, may not be covered by insurance if the district loses the case.

Their opponents reply that the budget should reflect known costs and should not anticipate court actions that may never come to pass.

Whether the voters will blame McCloskey and Davenport for setting the maximum tax rate and budget, or Wall and Fillo for supporting Proposition U, the initiative that allowed the commission to double the tax rate before a record reassessment year, is a question that will be resolved on Election Day.

Proposition U was approved by the voters a year ago by a 3-1 margin as a means to save the independent Police Department by infusing more tax dollars into the small operation.

However, a short time later the department went out of business because its liability insurance was cancelled.

Starting Jan. 1, 1977, the district contracted with Daly City for a six-month period. Commissioners Davenport and McCloskey pushed a permanent, seven-year contract to be signed when the temporary contract expired June 30.

But opposition from nine Broadmoor and Daly City residents, including Randy Wall, brought the permanent contract into the courts. San Mateo County Superior Court ruled that it could not be signed unless it was amended to include a "reasonable" concellation clause.

With the permanent contract dead, Broadmoor received emergency police protection for two months from the Sheriff's Department until the Police Commission decided to sign a second, temporary contract with Daly City.

The second, six-month contract ends Feb. 28, 1977.

Daly City's City Manager David Rowe has said the city probably would consider negotiating a two- to four-year contract with the Police District, but would not be willing to take the Broadmoor employes as permanent Daly City personnel.

Under Daly City's Civil Service ordinance, employees become permanent after six months of work with the city in one fiscal year. Thus, the current Broadmoor employees would be jobless.

Rowe said a Broadmoor contract could be considered at the same $206,000 per year level that the city offered last summer. The cost would include a provision for inflation, with a ceiling.

All four candidates concede that a Daly City contract at this price is the most economical choice, but Fillo and Wall don't believe it would provide the service the people want.

"No one ever said that independence would be cheaper." Wall said of the $34,000 difference between his independent operations estimate and the proposed Daly City cost.

Both Wall and Fillo believe that the Sheriff's Department provided a higher level of service than that of Daly City. The estimate so far of a yearly contract with the Sheriff's Department has been $244,000.

Fillo also said he might explore a contract with Colma. The town has not offered a firm estimate.

The challengers, however, stress that they would consider an insurance quotation of $9,800 to start up the department before going to a contract.

The quotation, submitted in September by Wall, has come under fire from McCloskey and Davenport, who contend that it has been incomplete and that Burlingame insurance agent Gregory Comaroto has not answered their questions about it.

However, the biggest question mark concerning the ability of Broadmoor to operate its own department revolves around a recent decision of San Mateo County's Local Agency Formation Commission.

The LAFCO decided in September to resume a policy of considering piecemeal annexation applications from the unincorporated area, beginning in December.

The decision could mean the loss of the Police District's tax base, as the property owners who are interested in detaching from the district appear to hold the valuable commercial lands.

LAFCO decided to hold off the new policy until December to give the district time to get through elections, but sources close to LAFCO believe that the gesture won't affect long-term policy.

If the commercial property begins to trickle away, Broadmoor residents could be faced with paying more of a tax share to the independent department.

The previous contract proposal with Daly City, Davenport and McCloskey have pointed out, contains a clause that adjusts the cost downward if there are detachments from the district.

An independent department or a contract? All four candidates believe that only the Nov. 8 vote will tell.

Flights Up

For the first time in 1977, the number of flights per month at San Francisco International Airport showed an increase in September.

Ending an eight-month downturn in flight operations, air traffic increased by 2,208 flights during September, according to airport reports.

Largest increases came in small plane aviation, including a hike of 25.3 percent in private flying and a boost of 30.5 percent in "third-level" airline activity.

Major airlines showed a 2.56 percent increase in flights in or out.

The airport showed a 12.5 percent increase in number of passengers through the terminals, to 1.7 million; a 6.1 percent increase in pounds of mail handled; and a 14.7 percent hike in cargo.

Airports Director Richard R. Heath said the September increase is not enough to outweigh the decreases of the previous eight months.

As a result, the total change in traffic for 1977 is a 5.5 percent drop in flights from the first nine months of 1976, Heath said.

There were 11,213 fewer arrivals or departures in the first nine months of this year, he said, because more and more of the major airlines are using the wide-bodied "airbus" aircraft which make it possible to carry more people with fewer planes.

Colma

nothing to do with the legality of the petition.

The judge likewise denied Green's motion to conduct further investigations into the June 21 meeting and did not grant the attorney's request to strike certain portions of the intervenor's complaint.

"This is ridiculous," Ragan said of lengthy filings on the case. "This has been completely blown out of proportion. Much of this has nothing to do with the issue."

Travel Request Dilemma

San Mateo County supervisors expressed some reluctance Tuesday to relinquish their approval of individual employee overnight travel requests.

A proposal by County Manager David Nichols to amend an ordinance to give department heads responsibility for administering and approving budgeted travel requests was referred back to the manager.

The supervisors asked Nichols to bring back a proposed ordinance that would limit the number of out-of-town conferences and number of employees who can attend.

The supervisors indicated that if they are satisfied with the new ordinance, they would allow the department heads and the county manager to approve travel requests.

The present ordinance requires the county manager and the Board of Supervisors to approve all requests for conference attendance.

Nichols stated: "Many questions have been raised recently regarding overnight travel on county business. I would like to implement a new procedure which would make department heads responsible for their budgeted travel programs and would eliminate travel requests from the board agenda."

Nichols argued that his proposal would eliminate duplication and thus save staff time. He reminded the board that travel expenses are approved for each department during annual budget sessions.

But the supervisors, notably Edward Bacciocco and Fred Lyon, said they wanted some assurances that there would be adequate control over the number of employees allowed to attend professional conferences.

Reduce the High Cost of Dying

The Neptune Society is the alternative to the more costly, involved mortuary-funeral-cemetery system. After 100 years, it is the answer to America's high cost of dying. The Neptune Society provides a simple, dignified cremation service with scattering on land or sea. There is no need for embalming, cosmetology, casket or graves. Most funerals with casket, grave and other related items will cost $2000 to $5000. The simple Neptune way is $ plus modest area transportation fees. The U.S. Government pays $255 cash toward death expenses. The thinking person will register today and become a card carrying member.

Loyola Guild to Meet

Loyola Guild will hold its next regular monthly meeting Nov. 4, 1:45 p.m., in the University Center Lounge in San Francisco.

Rev. John Lo Schiavo, S.J., father president of the University of San Francisco, will speak on "USF Today."

The Guild's Annual Day of Recollection will be Nov. 8 at St. Ignatius Church, starting at 10 a.m.

Rev. Francis J. Harrington, S.J., of the University of San Francisco, will be spiritual director of the day.

Mrs. Leslie White, Mrs. W. Urie Walsh and Mrs. George Carley are co-chairpersons for their activity. Any woman wishing to make a reservation can call 587-7901 or 751-7641.

Paper Rates Excellent

"The Brave is an excellent paper. Few junior highs have the talent or the ambition to tackle the project and come up with a product like The Brave. Congratulations!"

This statement is a quote from Judge Mary Skar, director of Newspaper Critical Services for the National Scholastic Press Association.

For the eighth time out of the last 10 semesters, Southwood Junior High School's paper has been awarded a first class or excellent rating by the National Scholastic Press Association. The rating is for the spring semester, 1977.

The staff, under the direction of Adviser W. J. Maher, was awarded a mark of distinction in the area of physical appearance and visual communication. According to Judge Skar, the staff puts together a handsome and readable package.

Women's Clubs to Meet

Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will meet Nov. 14 at Breuner's in Serramonte, announces Mrs. Walter C. Thomson, district president.

Members from the three counties comprising the District (San Mateo, San Francisco and Marin) will be in attendance at the call to order by Mrs. Thomson at 10 a.m. Registration will be at 9:30 a.m.

Crime Is Meet Topic

Anita Laycock, criminologist, will be speaking in Pacifica Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. at Cabrillo School, Crespi Drive.

The theme of her lecture is that criminal behavior is an outgrowth of immoral behavior, and that crime is not necessarily caused by one's environment, economic status or lack of education.

During her talk, Mrs. Laycock will present suggestions for solutions to what is all too often referred to as "America's skyrocketing crime rate."

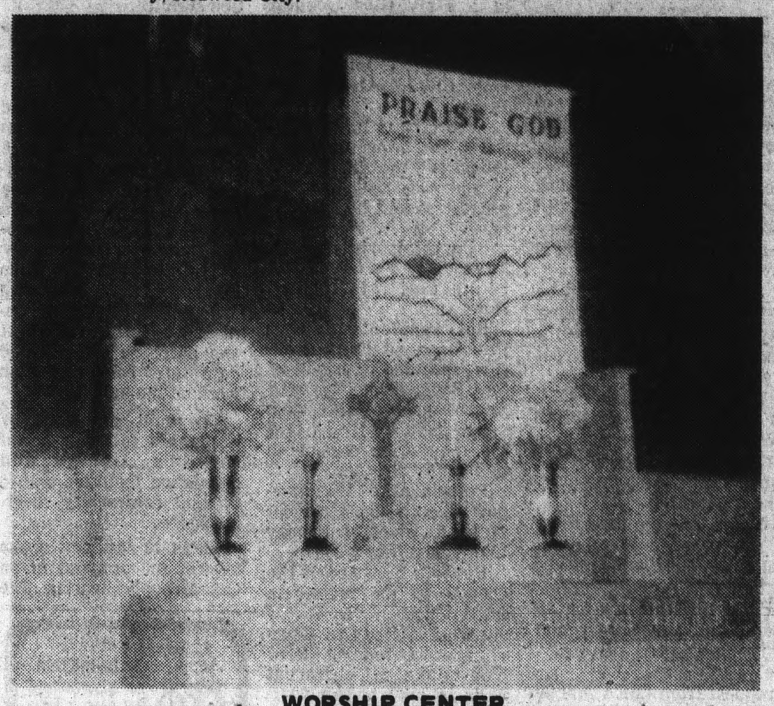

For more details call 359-3267. A donation of $2 will be taken at the door, or tickets may be purchased in advance.

Flight Attendants Sought

All former flight attendants of Pan American World Airways can attend a luncheon at Fort Mason in San Francisco Nov. 5.

This event is jointly sponsored by The San Francisco Bay Area and Marin Chapters. Cocktails will be served in the Funston Room at 11 followed by lunch at noon.

For reservations and information write Sig Daxer, 707 Oakview Way, Redwood City.

WORSHIP CENTER

Stewardship Canvass Sunday is observed this Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 87th St., Daly City. The picture above shows the worship center of the church congregation with the banner that points toward "Praising God Through Pledge Giving for 1978." The chairman of the Stewardship Canvass Committee is Elder Kay Mattson. The pastor is Herbert C. Tweedie. Members of the congregation will come forward at the end of the service to present their pledge cards on the Communion table. A coffee time is held following the service in the social hall. Sunday School is held during the worship service.

Latin American Opportunities

"Income Opportunities for Adventures in Latin America" will be the topic of a one-day seminar Dec. 17.

It also will be held twice during 1978, and each seminar will be limited to 10 participants. The seminars are being held in Pacifica.

The seminar will discuss income opportunities in: 1) small placer mining of precious metals and precious and semi-precious stones; 2) income potential from business options such as finders fees, import/export arrangements, and opportunities as a representative of small American business firms; and 3) income from communication skills such as writing, lecturing, and photography. The instructor has spent twenty years combining these opportunities into a modest income that has allowed him to explore the backcountry of Latin America.

For details, write William Cate, Post Office Box 1125, Pacifica, Ca 94044.

Scouts Hold Meeting

The monthly Cub Scout Pack 276 meeting was at Serra Vista Elementary School, and advancement awards for Bobcat were presented to Patrick Crystal, James Vickers, Michael Bollier, Sean Kerrisk, Kevin Regudon Jr., Mark Guelfo and Darren and Jason Duncan.

Advancement award for Bear was presented to Paul Perrone.

Gold Arrow awards were presented to Tony Navarra and Troy Sweetman.

A Silver Arrow was awarded to Kevin Duncan.

Chief Akela and Boy Scout, Ray Krisman, headed Graduation ceremony for Marc Ormando and Paul Perrone, from Cubs to Webelos.

Millbrae Water Use Pact OKd

Prompted by the drought, the Millbrae City council approved last week a water resource agreement with Green Hills Country Club.

City Engineer Lyle Johnson explained that the agreement will allow the country club to pump water into the Millbrae water system for the club's irrigation uses later.

Meanwhile, the city will be able to use the club's well water as a supplement to allotments from the San Francisco Water Department.

The club now takes a portion of its water from privately operated wells, but there are no facilities for the club to store water during peak demand periods.

Under the terms of the agreement, the club will be able to use an amount of city water equal to the amount of well water it pumps into the system.

JESD Negotiations Again Break Down

By BILL HURSCHMANN

Negotiations between teachers and the Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District apparently have come to a halt.

The school board and its 400 teachers have not yet agreed on a contract for either the 1976-77 or 1977-78 school years.

For several years, district teachers have been represented by the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association. However, on Nov. 17, an election will be held in the district to determine if teachers wish to continue to be represented by JCTA or by the American Federation of Teachers.

Board president Al Schwarzbach said last Wednesday that he, for one, does not wish to continue negotiations with JCTA at this time. Schwarzbach said it would be futile to negotiate with a bargaining unit that may no longer be the representative of the teachers after Nov. 17.

"I don't want to negotiate with someone if they are not in a position to make a decision," he explained.

Trustees also were upset at an Oct. 12 letter mailed to all teachers in the district by Garry Bieringer, JCTA president.

In that letter, Bieringer said JCTA representatives "voted, overwhelmingly, to continue our position of last year — 'no collective bargaining contract, no committee participation.' The school board and administration have grand plans of getting ahead of the game with curriculum and textbooks. The representatives, however, strongly recommend that teachers refuse to serve on committees until we have a collective bargaining agreement."

"Not serving on committees doesn't hurt the board or the administration personally," Trustee Beverly Forrester said. "Our administrators certainly are capable of picking textbooks (on that committee).

"However, if I was going to use something like a textbook, I sure would want to have some input in selecting it. It could really hurt the children in the long run.

"What they've picked to get even with the board is something that directly affects the children. They (JCTA) are really using the kids," Mrs. Forrester said.

Mrs Forrester also was critical of Bieringer for recommending that all teachers withhold participation in leadership activities during the articulation day.

On the Nov. 10, articulation day, elementary and high school teachers will meet to discuss general needs and trends for future years.

"This (withholding), too," Mrs. Forrester added, "is hurting the children."

Trustees were quick to point out, however, that not all teachers in the district are following the JCTA line. Many teachers are serving on committees, discussing textbooks and other matters, trustees said.

Some parents in the audience expressed displeasure at the fact that a contract has not been reached.

"The teachers in the district are working very hard," one parent said, "and the work they are doing is lost in the shuffle of rhetoric."

"Our teachers are doing a good job and should be commended," another said. "They've been performing their duties with no contract since 1976. I hope you'll hear them this time . . . and carry on with the real purpose of education."

It isn't quite that simple, Trustee Dave Parker said.

"I can't see that we can go back to the electorate and ask for a tax increase. We can't give the teachers what we don't have. We don't have the monies to make the kind of raises that the teachers are asking for."

In other union matters, the trustees:

• Established Nov. 9, 7:45 p.m., as the date for a public hearing to discuss a salary reopener proposal from Chapter 233 of the California School Employes Association (classified employes.)

• Asked the district's Personnel Commission to study a proposal from management, supervisory and confidential employees that they be granted a five percent across-the-board increase.

• Tabled discussion of a request from CSEA that 20 district employes be terminated because they failed to pay either dues to their bargaining units, a service fee to the unit or make a like contribution to a charitable organization.

• Set Nov. 9 for a public hearing to discuss a proposal from the Jefferson School Psychologist Association, one of four employe bargaining units in he district.

Clash Over Files

By NANCY STANCILL

Residents' opposition to a Daly City plan to locate a multi-purpose center on a 1.3-acre Mission Street site appears to be heating up.

A property owner's request for city files relating to condemnation plans for her land escalated into a full-scale shouting match at a Daly City Council meeting last Tuesday.

Mrs. Adrianne Sofos requested file information from City Manager David Rowe.

According to Rowe, Mrs. Sofos, the owner of one of the parcels the city plans to obtain, was told that the request should be in writing.

"Certainly, in no way have we refused the request at this time," Rowe said.

But residents Conrad Pavellas and Ernie Pezzola, speaking on behalf of Mrs. Sofos and her husband Art, objected to an earlier suggestion by Rowe that the request be considered by the city attorney.

Pezzola said City Attorney Albert Polonsky is out of town, which will delay the request "for weeks."

Pezzola questioned the council on the matter in angry tones.

"What kind of City Council are we running here? You make all different sorts of laws to suit yourselves," he shouted.

Pezzola said Mrs. Sofos had made a special trip Tuesday to San Mateo to get a letter from her attorney,and that the matter should be resolved "now."

Pavellas added that he had asked for the file information "as a citizen and I was told that Mr. Rowe would have to sift through it first."

Mayor Pro Tem William Schumacher told the two that some file materials, such as Polonsky's notes, would not be covered under state freedom of information statutes.

Schumacher said he was sure that Mrs. Sofos' attorney would get "good cooperation from the city."

The council held a public hearing a few weeks ago on the city's plan to initiate eminent domain proceedings to acquire the three Mission Street parcels adjacent to the War Memorial Building.

The city has set aside $391,000 in federal Housing and Community Development Act funding to select and purchase the site and complete initial design work on the building.

The multi-purpose center is planned to house social services, library and recreation facilities and to provide community meeting space.

About 10 residents spoke against the proposal at an Oct. 11 public hearing. The council decided to continue the hearing Nov. 7.

Two resident groups recently have written letters to the city in support of locating the center at Lincoln Park, located several blocks behind Mission Street.

Leroy Simmons, vice chairman of a newly formed group called the Afro-American Committee for the Lincoln Park Center, said locating the library and recreation facilities at the park site, would save HCDA funds for the city's housing rehabilitation program.

Simmons said another proposed multi-purpose center function, the social services activities, could be located in a "lower floor" of the War Memorial Building.

Elsa Ramos, writing on behalf of the Southern Hills Homeowners for a Lincoln Park Center, said a Lincoln Park location would be more beneficial to the Southern Hills area than would Mission Street.

"We are positive that Lincoln Park as a location is suitable not only for us, but for most of the people on the eastern side of Daly City — the very people the facility is intended to serve," she said.

Senior Homeowner Tax Forms in Mail

Claim forms that will allow senior homeowners 62 years or older to postpone payment of their property taxes are being mailed out this week by the state Franchise Tax Board, Ray Mills, department operations officer, announced.

Forms will be sent to every homeowner who in the past has filed a claim for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, according to Mills.

"While tax postponement is a new program and not directly related to the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance program, we believe that many of those who have received assistance may also be interested in postponement," Mills said.

Although postponement will enable a homeowner to defer payment of property taxes, it will result in a lien being placed on the home for the amount of taxes postponed.

The deadline for filing is Jan. 31, 1978, and homeowners may postpone payment of both the first and second installment of their 1977-78 residential property taxes, Mills explained. If the homeowner also is eligible for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance and files between May 15 and Aug. 31, 1978, the assistance will first be applied to reduce the amount of the lien, Mills said.

To be eligible, an owner must have at least a 20 percent equity in his home, occupy the home, receive a separate tax bill, have a homeowner's exemption on the property, have a total household income of less than $20,000 and be 62 or older as of Dec. 31, 1976.

Information may be obtained from the state Franchise Tax Board or the Senior Citizens Programs, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento, Ca. 95807.

Woman Robs Photo Store

A woman with auburn hair and green eyes held up a San Bruno Fotomat Store in Pacifica Heights at 4 p.m. Thursday, escaping with $50.

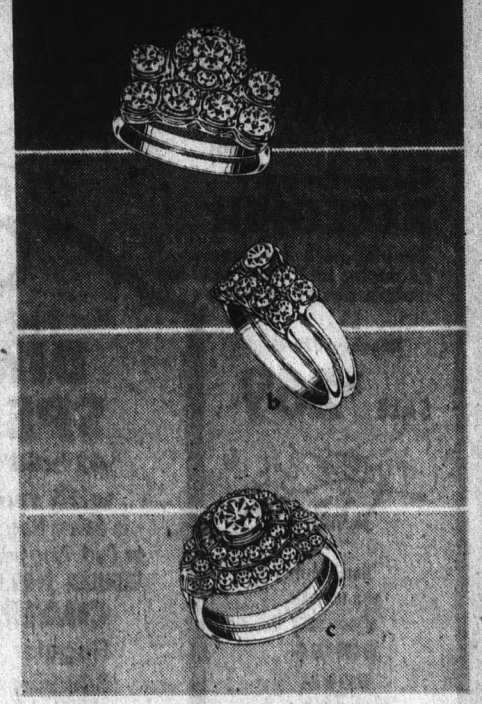

Employee Sandra Bart of San Bruno told police the robber was standing behind the booth when she turned around. The suspect simulated a weapon, told her victim she had a gun and then demanded the money, police said.

She told the employee to sit on the floor and count to 30 and then departed, according to police.

TO REVIEW BOOKS

Louise Ellington, a cousin of Duke Ellington, will review books about the late world-renowned composer, song writer, musician and band leader, will discuss him from a family viewpoint, and will entertain with some of his songs for The Friends of the Daly City Library and their guests Nov. 3, 7:30 p.m., in the community room of the Serramonte Library. Now a Daly City resident, she was a popular vocalist in the hotels and supper clubs when she lived in Chicago. The program is presented as a community service, and the public can attend free of charge. Refreshments will conclude the event.

Skyline Panel For Chief

"Your Cops — Good Guys or Bad?" will be the subject of a panel discussion on Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. at Skyline College in San Bruno.

Daly City Police Chief David Hansen, Foster City Police Chief John Norton and Sheriff Richard Hongisto and Deputy Police Chief Clement DiAmicis of San Francisco will explore criticism of police methods. Their discussion will include hiring practices and procedures for handling complaints about individual police officers.

On Nov. 9 at 7 p.m., Skyline College will host a program entitled, "Who Cares About the Handicapped?" Speakers will be Dirk Schurrman of the federal Department of Health Education and Welfare, Greg Jensen, who is a disabled attorney working in the private defender's program in San Mateo County, and a representative from the Redwood City office of the state Department of Rehabilitation.

Both programs cost $1, payable at the door. They are scheduled to be held in Room 2306 of Building 2 at the college. However, Lt. Tom Culley of the Daly City Police Department noted that the location of the second talk will probably be changed. "There's no way you could get a wheelchair into that room. I guess that points out what the problem is," said Culley.

Paintings by Phyllis Ham and wall hangings and rugs by Ernestine Nelson are being featured at the Gallery House, 538 Ramona St., Palo Alto, through Nov. 26.

Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

St. Andrew's Art Show

St. Andrew's Catholic Community, corner of Southgate and Sullivan avenues, Daly City, will hold its Annual Thanksgiving Art Show during Thanksgiving week.

It will open with a wine tasting November 22, and will run through the week.

Featured will be works done by local artists and anyone wishing to enter the show can receive applications by calling Mrs. Rita Barichievich, chairman of the Art Committee, or by writing to St. Andrew's Church, 1571 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, 94015.

Donations are asked on Tuesday night and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Bach Society's Schedule

Johann Sebastian Bach's "Mass in B Minor" will open the California Bach Society's seven-concert performance schedule for the 1977-78 season.

It will be performed in Palo Alto Nov. 13.

For more details on the opening performance or the remaining six, call 922-7389.

Society's First Concert

The San Mateo County Chamber Music Society, under the direction of Helen Beyer, will present its opening concert of the 1977-78 season on Nov. 13, 3 p.m., in the Choral Room of the College of San Mateo.

Titled "Eight Extraordinary Women," the program features the artistic achievements of women.

Admission is $4 and $2 for students and senior citizens.

For details, call 345-0879.

Symphonic Band to Play

San Francisco State University's Symphonic Band, conducted by Dr. Edwin C. Kruth of San Bruno, will play its third "pop" concert Nov. 8 in Knuth Hall of the Creative Arts building off Holloway near 19th Avenue.

The free program begins at 7 p.m.

Harpsichord Demonstration

Farewell Party for Rector

St. Martin's Day and Autumn Faire, Nov. 11 and 12, will be the occasion of saying farewell to St. Martin's rector, the Rev. Timothy S. Rudolph and his family.

The Rudolphs have been called to a new ministry in Oceanside, and will be leaving Daly City after 8½ years in the Episcopal parish.

The parish and friends will gather on November 11 for an evening of dining and entertainment, and an advance "peek" at the many lovely handmade gifts which will be offered for sale to the public the next day from 10 to 4.

B'nai Israel Services

Sabbath Services will be observed in the Sanctuary of Congregation B'nai Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City, on Nov. 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The services will be conducted by Rabbi Ira Book, assisted by Cantor Salo Blumenthal, who will chant the liturgy.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the performance of the Choir, accompanying Cantor Blumenthal. Richard Altman is choir organist and accompanist.

At the conclusion of Services, an Oneg Shabbat (social hour) will follow, hosted by two members of the Temple Sisterhood who contribute home-baked cakes and cookies.

Saturday Services

Rabbi Ira Book of Congregation B'nai Israel announces that Saturday (Shabbat) morning Services commence at 10:30 a.m. in the Temple Sanctuary located at 1575 Annie St., Daly City.

On Shabbat morning of Nov. 5, Rabbi Book will conduct services using the format of a Torah study and discussion session.

To be read will be Parsha: "Chaye, Sarah." At the conclusion of shabbat (Saturday) morning services, a Kiddush will be served, which is prepared and served by members of the Bat/Bar Mitzvah classes.

Art Exhibit, Auction

Congregation B'nai Israel Sisterhood will present a benefit art exhibiton and auction Nov. 12 at the Synagogue, 1575 Annie St., Daly City. Wine and cheese will be served during the exhibition beginning at 7 p.m. The auction follows at 8. Donation per person is $1 and is tax-deductible.

According to Renee Stehman, Sisterhood president, proceeds from the auction will be used for General Needs of the Synagogue.

Nearly 200 original water colors, oil paintings, signed and numbered lithographs and etchings have been selected from the International Collections of Collier Art Corporation.

For further information or to make reservations, please contact Renee Stehman at: 589-6607 or Roni Miller at: 994-2427.

For details, call 589-6607 or 994-2427.

Rock Hounds

Many rock hounds prosper in the state of Arizona where more than 60 kinds of valuable minerals can be found.

Chapter Holds Meet

Nu Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its annual model meeting at the home of Mrs. Herman Erler.

Guests at the meeting were Lori Mark and Pat Trautmann.

A welcoming ceremony was held for Mary Skiles for her joining the chapter.

The cultural program that evening was on marriage.

The second meeting for this month was held at the home of Mrs. Yancy Wyatt. The cultural was on child rearing. A progressive dinner rush party was Oct. 22 and the annual preferential tea Oct. 30 at the home of President Mrs. John Maguire.

'Junque Jamboree'

The Franklin D. Roosevelt PTA, 1200 Skyline Drive, Daly City, is sponsoring a "Junque Jamboree Rummage Sale" in the school multi-use room on Nov. 17-18, from 3 to 7 p.m.

Donations will be accepted Nov. 16, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Students Honored

Four local students have been named to the dean's list for scholastic achievement for the summer quarter 1977 at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

The students are Keven J. Oshea, a senior ornamental horticulture major, 65 Teresa St., Daly City; Deborah M. Holman, a senior liberal studies major, 1499 Murchison Dr., Millbrae; John D. Wheeler, a senior engineering technology major, 648 Bayview, Millbrae; and David K. Yun, a senior mechanical engineering major, 938 Larkspur Drive, Millbrae.

Trash-a-Thon Slated

On November 5, 60 students from two Daly City high schools are participating in a Trash-a-Thon, a civic action project designed to raise money for their Community Environmental Education Program.

The program, also known as the Wilderness School, provides the opportunity for students to get in touch with their total environment by participating in a 10-day backpack trip, working on a large gardening project, and participating in various urban projects.

The Trash-a-Thon will be from 7 a.m. until dusk.

PREPARING FOR BOUTIQUE

Members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild are readying for a boutique champagne preview Nov. 17 from 7-9 p.m. Guild members are, from left, Frances Walsh, Marvene Simmons and Josephine Canton. All proceeds from the boutique will go toward the hospital's expansion program, for which the Guild has pledged $300,000. (Dave Dornlas Photo)

GIRL SCOUTING

GIRL SCOUT CALENDARS go on sale November 4, with the offering of the first locally produced San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Calendar on sale for $1 by local Girl Scouts.

The lively brown ink on buff paper recreation of 50 Scout activities divided into 12 themes, features our National Landmark, the San Francisco cable car on the cover.

An unusual assortment of important ethnic dates, not often found in one calendar, reflects the uniquely diversified Girl Scout membership in the Bay Area.

The $1 price is a tax deduction as it is a contribution to Girl Scouting and the calendar can be mailed in a standard manila envelope as a gift. It is only available in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Themes include the worlds of art, people, out-of-doors today and tomorrow and well being. All are segments of the "worlds to explore," Girl Scouting's first new programming in 14 years.

WESTLAKE MALL will be the location for Girl Scouting Day, November 5, as presentation of the new Girl Scout Handbooks will be made to Mayor Al Teglia and the members of the Daly City Library Commission, at noon.

From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. from a registration booth, Girl Scouts will provide shopper service for senior citizens and child care for youngsters ages 3 to 8.

From 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. an adult recruitment booth will be staffed by local volunteers interested in explaining the new Girl Scout program "Worlds to Explore."

The first locally produced San Francisco Bay Girl Scout calendar will also be available for $1 from Girl Scouts. All profits from the sale benefit local troops or go for support services.

At 1:00 p.m. a fashion show of Girl Scout uniforms of the past and present will be featured.

Scouts will also play guitars and lend a musical background for the adult recruitment booth. Featured program will answer the questions "how well do you know your community?" and "where do your roots come from?"

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 4, 5 and 6, also will be the dates of the Media mini camp at Camp Bothin in Marin county with individually interested Scouts from the Daly City area participating.

Birth of Flower Show

"A Show Is Born" is the title of a slide presentation prepared by Howard Conrad, Flower Show photographer, which will be shown at the San Francisco Begonia Society's regular meeting Nov. 2 in the Hall of Flowers, Ninth Avenue and Lincoln Way, at 8 p.m.

It unveils the birth of the San Francisco County Fair Flower Show, showing all the work that goes into the production that ends with such a display of beauty.

There will also be a question and answer period on current begonia culture, a plant table and refreshments.

Service News

COMPLETES TRAINING

Marine Private First Class Lamont Thompson, son of Ethel Thompson, 124 Santa Barbara Ave., Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau-Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County, with offices in Burlingame, Daly City and Redwood City.

The local telephone number for area residents is 992-0957, an answering service. Residents also may contact the main office in Burlingame at 342-0801, from 9 to 5, Monday through Friday.

ADULT PROTECTIVE SERVICES — A volunteer skilled in deaf sign language is needed to assist in the San Bruno area. A blind man in Daly City also needs someone to walk with him as he needs outside exercise and this can be arranged to your convenience.

AMERICAN RED CROSS — Assistance is needed with general office work and also a volunteer interested in coordinating volunteers. The English as a second language program, held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 6-7 p.m. is seeking teacher aides. No knowledge of another language is necessary.

SAN MATEO COUNTY SOCIAL SERVICES — A tutor is urgently needed to review basic algebra and geometry with two high school students. This is only short term and the time is flexible.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISIS CENTER — Interviews for volunteers interested in staffing the 24-hour crisis line are now being held for the next training session. Bright, sensitive and caring people who are willing to spend four hours per week for at least one year are needed for the crisis line.

VILLA SANATORIUM — Recreational aides are needed to help with various activities at this convalescent hospital including arts and crafts, games, parties, reading books or the newspaper or visiting with patients. The time is flexible and many volunteers are needed.

'West Side Story'

"West Side Story" will be presented by San Francisco State University Nov. 11-12 and 18-19 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 13 at 2 p.m. in McKenna Theatre on the campus.

Tickets are $4.50 and $3.50 for general admission, and half price for students and seniors. For details, call 585-7174.

Scholarship Available

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club of San Mateo County is offering a $550 scholarship to the Pi Beta Phi Arrowmont School of Crafts in Gatlinburg, Tenn., for the summer session 1978.

This scholarship is available to residents of San Mateo County who qualify.

The Arrowmont School of Crafts offers programs in crafts, including weaving, ceramics, textiles, jewelry, stitchery, etc.

People interested in applying can request application forms from Mrs. William M. North, Jr., Alumnae Club Scholarship chairman, 1560 Marlborough Road, Hillsborough 94010.

Deadline is Nov. 15.

Williams to Appear

Roger Williams will appear in concert with the Pacific Philharmonic on Nov. 5 at 8:15 p.m. in the San Mateo Performing Arts Center, 650 N. Delaware St., San Mateo.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Trio's Lounge Fans Applaud Loudly

THE TRI SOUNDS (John Gentile on drums, Tom Lucia on base, and Jack Bailey on lead guitar) are a smash hit at THE BAYHILL LOUNGE, San Bruno. Their new contract signs them up for a third year here.....If you'd like to see the sunset this Sunday in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, enjoy dinner by-the-sea an hour earlier at NICK'S restaurant-lounge. Standard time is now in effect...Sunday continues to be one of the busiest days for JOE LOHMAN, manager of THE CASTAWAY at Coyote Point. Brunch begins at 10 a.m.....Another professional joins the staff at VINCE'S ITALIAN and SEAFOOD restaurant. CHRISTOPHER TASSOS has been appointed manager, it was announced by TONY LICATA.....A beverage specialty at LA PINATA is the Margarita, which took months to perfect. ...Tuesdays through Fridays are special luncheon days at the RODEWAY INN. A Lingerie Fashion Show, sponsored by Helen's Fashions, features lovely models during the noon hours. . . . Friday, Nov. 18, is the last day that the 50 cent "discount coupons" may be redeemed at TANFORAN PARK'S GARDEN RESTAURANTS. General Manager JACK KUKS, who is expecting one of the busiest holiday seasons ever, says the amount of business generated through Thanksgiving and Christmas leaves little time for the restaurants to accommodate the coupon business. This special coupon, found in today's "Bright Lights," may be presented at any one of the Garden Restaurants after 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Hit Musical Star Presents Fast Show

DENISE KILBOURNE, one of the most exciting entertainers in show business today, headlines Wednesday through Sunday evenings in LEHR'S CABARET THEATER at the Greenhouse in San Francisco. Dinner guests in the adjoining LEHR'S GREENHOUSE garden restaurant receive free tickets to the show.....Aging makes the flavor difference at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-by-ounce STEAKERY, on the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Tower, Taylor Street entrance. Phil buys the best beef available, then ages it to juicy perfection in specially built aging lockers right at the restaurant. . . . SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S reputation for fine dining continues to spread throughout the countryside. At the special request of Jim Nabors and Kay Starr, who were performing at nearby Circle Star Theater, "RICH" TRAINOR sent orders of Baby Back Ribs backstage for their between-show snacking. The L.A. Four group, which flew in from Los Angeles to appear at the Fox Theater in Redwood City, dined here before their performance. . . . ENRICO ROMANO'S Rockaway Beach restaurant is a natural for pizza parties — to eat in or take out. . . Joe Rivas, executive chef of ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB, the elegant new million-dollar restaurant on San Francisco's Geary Street "Theater Row," compared notes with Alfred Saarne, chef de cuisine at Michael's in Sunnyvale, at a recent conflab.

Food and Beverage For Meadows Fans

Racing fans are apparently a hungry and thirsty lot because BAY MEADOWS, the West's busiest race track, has enough eating and drinking spots to accommodate a good-sized army. There are 15 refreshment stands in the grandstand area, 12 bars spread around the grandstand, clubhouse and turf club areas, and four restaurants — one each in the grandstand and clubhouse and two in the turf club, one of them a buffet that has proven very popular with special groups. Incidentally, there are special reduced rates for parties of 25 or more, with very reasonable prices, including lunch, admission and a program, along with a picture in the winner's circle for the race named in honor of your group. Just call 345-1661 and ask for the special events department to make a reservation for your organization — either for fun or fund raising. Saturday morning open house programs will continue through Nov. 26, getting under way at 8 a.m. in the area in front of the clubhouse. See morning workouts, view racing films, observe training races and tour the barn area free of charge. Great entertainment and also educational for the youngsters. Also, remember the infield is open on Saturdays for picnics, with all the facilities necessary for enjoying a day at the races available.

Collision Charges Filed

A San Francisco man has been charged with vehicular manslaughter following a head-on collision which resulted in the death of a Pacifica man in Pacifica last Tuesday.

Dead is Raoul C. Aurelio, 320 Coral Ridge Drive, Pacifica. Lodged in Daly City's pre-arraignment detention is Pedro M. Aristegui, 35, of 2554 17th Avenue, San Francisco.

According to Pacifica police, the collision between Aurelio's motorcycle and Aristegui's pickup truck occurred about one-half mile south of Hickey Boulevard, on Skyline Boulevard, at about 8:15 p.m. Aurelio, who was taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, was pronounced dead at 9:43 p.m.

One of the vehicles, according to Pacifica firemen, struck a power pole, resulting in a power outage in the Serramonte area for about an hour.

The Skyline Drive area was covered with a heavy fog Tuesday night, which police said could have contributed to the collision.

LIEUTENANT HONORED

Thomas Culley, left, was honored recently by Daly City Police Chief David Hansen for his "vigorous and unselfish dedication to duties as commander of the community division. The continued good relations of this department with numerous outside agencies is due to your personal efforts," Hansen said.

The California Scholarship Federation (CSF) club is under way. CSF is one of the most popular clubs at Serramonte High School.

Eligibility requirements for CSF are that a student must be a sophomore, junior or senior enrolled in a full-time academic program and have a "10" point grade average from the previous semester. An "A" is worth three points, and a "B" is worth one point, a "C" is worth no points, and a student with a "D" or an "F" is ineligible. Physical education grades are not included for point scoring.

This year's CSF, officers are President Loretta McNeil, Vice President Mylene Schwimmer, Secretary Gina Chronis, and Treasurer Andrea Gellen. The advisor is a biology teacher Hal Shurgin.

The senior members are Gina Chronis, Michelle Daly, Joe DePaul, Andrea Gellen, Gene Gonzalo, Eric Herzog, Elisa Horta, Yolanda Hurtado, Kornell Kwok, Richard Kowalski, Sarah Lai, Janice Lee, David Levy, Moonwoo Limb, Tonya McCowan, Loretta McNeil, Lisa Moeller, Veronica Pirotto, Mylene Schwimmer, and Arnold Yee.

The juniors include Chantay Almond, Rosie Axiak, Gloria Bombon, Curtis Dennison, Anne Hardey, Diana Law, Marianne Lenci, Imogene Mamoe, Teresa Marquez, Carol Nericcio, Shirley Ong, Florence Pabras, Maria Pascual, Susan Untalan, Maria Veloso, and Kurtis Wong.

The sophomores are Gary Borghello, Dianne Bugler, Marie DeGuzman, Rosally Felix, Nelson Gonzales, Carol Hall, Genny Hom, Beatrice Karabos, Leslie McNeil, Robin Moeller, Mike Rubin, Donna Velasquez, Diane Wight, Linda Wong and Matthew Young.

Tonight there will be a MICE. (Music; It Concerns Everyone) at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty room. The meeting will be about the big fundraiser of the year, which will take place in November. Everyone is welcome to attend.

On Nov. 3, 1977, come and watch the girls volleyball team vs. South San Francisco in Serramonte's main gym at 3:15 p.m. The Varsity will be battling South San Francisco for first place.

On Wednesday night, Nov. 9, there will be a PTSA (Parent, Teacher, Student Association) meeting at 7:30 in the Faculty room. All parents and students from Serramonte High School are urged to get involved with the PTSA. Everyone is welcome to attend this informative meeting.

Serramonte's juniors are involved with their first fundraiser of the year. They are selling a variety of suckers at 10 cents each. Buy a sucker and support the Class of '79.

Le Pacini

You're not going to believe this, but I picked the Yankees and the Dodgers to meet in the World Series, and then I picked the Yankees, who substantiated Leo Durocher's theory, to win it.

Of course, only my intimate friends know all of this, because I didn't put any of it into print. Why, you ask? Well, suppose I had been wrong? There go my credentials as an expert. I would much rather take a chance on my readers believing in my integrity than on the possibility of EVERY reader knowing for SURE that I don't know much.

It was a happy Series for me, because I'm an oldtime Yankee rooter and still haven't quite gotten over Bill Mazeroski's home run. Actually, under normal circumstances I don't root quite as hard for the Yankees as I used to, when they had a little more local representation. If it weren't for Billy Martin, in fact, and maybe coaches Elston Howard and Yogi Berra, who were childhood heroes, I probably would have rooted for California and the National League, which would seem a natural thing to do, and especially since the Dodgers have an Italian manager. But then so do the Yankees, and my theory was that Tommy Lasorda wasn't going to lose his job no matter what the Dodgers did, but that Martin would lose his if the Yankees didn't win. So, for the sake of national pride, I rooted extra hard for the Yankees this one time so that we could retain one more Italian big league manager next year.

AND NOW for some general observations on the playoffs and World Series, and some second-guessing, too, the latter of which is the prerogative of all sports columnists, whether they know anything or not.

In general, Whitey Herzog over-managed, especially in terms of his pitching changes, and particularly in that last game, when he removed Paul Splittorff. Splittorff was pitching his usual strong game against the Yankees. Nobody was really hitting him, left or righty batters. If a guy is doing that well, it seems that the best strategy is to go with him. I think that Herzog got too cute by bringing his ace starter, Dennis Leonard, in for the last inning of that game. If you're going to relieve, you relieve with your best specialist at relieving, not with a starter. Herzog's downfall may have been that he had too many rested pitchers — too many choices.

Martin, on the other hand, couldn't over-manage, because he was playing a man short and with sore-armed pitchers, so he was forced to go with limited choices, and fortunately, Sparkly Lyle was among those choices — and that might have been the key to Yankee success in post-season games. When one's choices are limited, one has fewer chances at making mistakes. Check that. Martin was playing three men short. How could you count Ken Holtzman, the Unknown Starter, or Catfish Hunter, who was the only Yankee pitcher really man-hanedled in post-season.

ONE LAST comment on Herzog's mananaging. His theory that the Yankees couldn't hit southpaws didn't work, because all the Yankee victories came against K.C. lefties.

There was nothing wrong with what Craig Nettles did when he bowled over second baseman Frank White in that fourth playoff game. For one thing, it was no worse than what Hal McRae had done in a previous game to Yankee second baseman Willie Randolph. But more obviously, the base path belongs to the runner, and Tony Kubek was out of line with his comment that interference should have been called because Nettles didn't slide.

There is nothing in the rule book which says a base runner has to slide. If there were, then runners would always have to slide into home plate, which they often don't do, or might we remind you of one of the more famous incidents in recent baseball history of a runner not sliding into home. Remember Pete Rose bowling over Ray Fosse in that All-Star game? Rose wasn't called dirty, but aggressive. And actually, Fosse was never again the same player after that collision. Infielders aren't defenseless as catchers are in such situations, either. If White had established that he would throw one between a runner's eyes if he didn't slide, Nettles wouldn't have gone in standing up.

QUESTION: Shouldn't George Brett have been thrown out of the game when he attacked Nettles on third base in that last game? It was, on the face of it, an unprovoked attack (although we all know that it was retaliation for Nettles "slide" into White.)

In that last NL playoff, it is easy to understand why Chub Feeney insisted it be played out in the rain. As president of the league, Feeney must act in the best interests of the league rather than of individual teams, and had he called the game, whichever team took the playoffs would have been going into the World Series at a distinct disadvantage against the American League team because of what the delay would have done to the rotation of its pitching staff.

And one important discovery was made by Lasorda, which he presumably tucked away for future reference. Tommy John is a better mudder than Steve Carlton.

As for World Series second guessing, I was disappointed in Lasorda when he started the fourth game with Dog Rau, and inserted Lee Lacy in right field and moved Reggie Smith to center. Rau, who had had arm problems, obviously wasn't ready (again, Lasorda seemed to be depending on the falacious notion — at least for postgame play this year — that the Yankees couldn't handle southpaws), and he weakened his defense. I think he was beginning to panic.

IF ONE WERE to ask me what I thought the key to the Yankee victory was, I would say that, more than Reggie Jackson, it was the ability of Don Gullett to not only open the Series, but to pitch extraordinarily well. Without him doing that, the Yankees were in trouble. But because he was able to come through, he allowed Martin to rest his weary pitching staff for an extra day and set up some sort of a stable rotation. Two things observers seemed to over-look in the Series: that the Yankees, with their sharp infield, hadn't turned a doubleplay going into the final game, and that the Series may have been the closest, statistically, ever played. Consider the following:

Team Batting: Yankees .244, Dodgers .231
Total Hits: Yankees 50, Dodgers 48
Home Runs: Yankees 9, Dodgers 8
Extra Base Hits: Yankees 18, Dodgers 17
Total Bases: Dodgers 86, Yankees 84
Slugging Average: Dodgers .413, Yankees .409
Runs scored: Dodgers 28, Yankees 26.
Team Earned Run Average: Yankees 4.02, Dodgers 4.09
Team Strikeouts (by pitchers): Yankees 37, Dodgers 35
Team Walks (by pitchers): Yankees 16, Dodgers 11
Men Left on Base: Dodgers 31, Yankees 32.
Stolen Bases; Dodgers 2, Yankees 1
Doubleplays (by defense): Dodgers 4, Yankees 2.
Errors: Dodgers 1, Yankees 3.

ONE MORE stat: Know who shared the record with Babe Ruth, Chick Hafey and Junior Gilliam of five long hits in a six game Series, one of the several records Reggie Jackson broke? Irony, irony . . . Billy Martin.

And why Martin, rather than Earl Weaver, shouldn't have been Manager of the Year, I'll never figure out.

Still Leading (NPL), Still Unbeaten

Cougars Win Another Thriller

Halloween may be approaching, but in the city of Half Moon Bay the topic of discussion is not the pumpkin crop.

Townspeople are buzzing about Half Moon Bay High's thrilling 20-14 football victory over host South San Francisco Friday night.

The Cougars' gutsy band of football players have done it again. For the second week in a row they thwarted a goal-line threat in the waning moments to keep their undefeated record intact.

HMB is now 4-0 in the North Peninsula League and 7-0 over-all. The NPL's version of the "Cardiac Kids" has now won six games by a margin of only one touchdown or less.

It appeared that the Cougars might put their opponent away early — for a change — in this one. Running back Nick Moreno busted loose from two tackles for a 75-yard touchdown run to give HMB a 20-8 lead with 10:04 left in the fourth quarter.

But then South City's talented senior fullback Dave Palmer started to do his thing. Palmer capped a quick three-play, 51-yard drive by dashing 15 yards for a touchdown to pull the Warriors to within 20-14 with 8:36 left.

There was plenty of time for South City to get the ball back, engineer a drive and score. But the Warriors only achieved two of their three objectives.

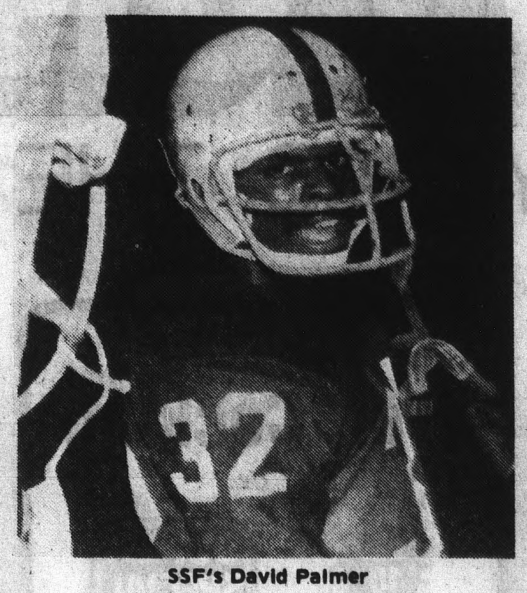

After an HMB punt, South City moved from its own 43-yard line. But Warrior hopes grew grim when quarterback Karl Young got sacked for an 11-yard loss, giving SSF a third-and-23 situation on their 40.

But South City hung tenaciously as wide receiver Glenn Kramer took a handoff (after some razzle-dazzle in the backfield) and picked up 16 yards to make it fourth-and-seven on the HMB 44. Palmer then broke loose on a 35-yard run down to the Cougar nine.

A penalty negated a touchdown run by Young and pushed South City back to the 14. After an incomplete pass, Palmer ran for four yards, fullback John Buerger added six and the Warriors faced a fourth-and-goal situaton from the four-yard line. But the next play never developed.

A bad exchange in the SSF backfield resulted in a fumble, and HMB's alert defense pounced on it.

Half Moon Bay, which has never captured an outright NPL championship (the Cougars shared a co-title in 1972 with Westmoor), now has an excellent chance. The Cougars must still play Serramonte, Oceana and Westmoor.

SSF's David Palmer

Surprisingly, it was HMB's ground attack which was primarily responsible for the victory. With a steady rain beating down throughout the game, there was not much passing. So Cougar coach Jerry Murphy called running plays, and Moreno and company stockpiled yardage.

Moreno, who overshadowed SSF's Palmer, had a sensational evening. He gained 188 yards on 22 carries and scored two touchdowns. QB Scott Mathews completed four of six passes for 60 yards and scored HMB's other touchdown on a one yard run.

Palmer wound up with 94 yards on 13 carries and Buerger rushed seven times for 40 yards and one TD.

Jefferson-Oceana

Jefferson, still winless on the season, is gaining respect around the league for its hard-hitting defense. The Indians displayed their stopper skills again Friday night against Oceana at Terra Nova but came out on the short end of a 10-6 decision.

Oceana, which boasts the league's leading offense, moved reasonably well against Jeff (248 yards in total offense) but only found the end zone once. That came in the fourth quarter on a 37-yard pass from Dan Lee to Rich Homer.

Fullback Randy Swayne highlighted Oceana's attack. He picked up 157 yards on 30 carries.

Jeff's only score came on a 12-yard pass from Bob Figueroa to Daryll Jackson with 30 seconds left in the game.

Terra Nova-Serramonte

Terra Nova appeared to be somewhat flat after last week's disappointing loss to Half Moon Bay, but still managed to beat host Serramonte 17-14.

Tiger quarterback Mike Diaz didn't have one of his finer days. He passed for one touchdown — a 40-yard throw in the second quarter to wide receiver Mike Mooney.

Later in the period Terra Nova blocked a punt and recovered on the Serramonte four-yard line. Diaz took the ball across on the first play thereafter to give the Tigers a 14-6 lead and they were never headed.

Lou Tinsley connected on 14 of 27 passes for 183 yards to highlight Serramonte's offense. But it was the Regent defense which produced both scores. Linebacker Mike Kuchac had a 76-yard interception return for a TD in the second quarter,and then in the fourth period linebacker Mark Scheffler recovered a fumble in Terra Nova's end zone.

El Camino-Westmoor

Westmoor blew to a 26-6 halftime lead and then held off the persistent Colts. El Camino closed to 26-20 on a sneak by quarterack Frank Vasquez with 2:31 left.

El Camino then recovered an onside kick, but on a fourth-down pass, Vasquez was sacked by Maurice Lowe. Tony Limutau scored on a 47-yard run for Westmoor just as the final gun sounded to make it 32-20 Westmoor. Limutau ran for two TD's and 101 yards on 11 carries and threw for 191 more to pace the Rams.

Mills Beats Burlingame

The primary weakness of Mills High's football team was supposed to be the inability of the Vikings' relatively small linemen to handle their opponents in the trenches and control the line of scrimmage.

But the supposition didn't hold up in Mills' 29-8 Mid-Peninsula League victory over host Burlingame Friday. Defensive linemen Matt Musa, Dave Wolff, Keith Zucca and Bill Fairweather gave the Panthers' linemen all they could handle, sacking Burlingame quarterback Matt Hesselgren six times and holding the Panther ballcarriers to 64 yards rushing.

"Our line played with more intensity and did a good job," said Viking coach Gary Frohlich. "Yeah, this was probably our best overall game of the season. But we still didn't pass the ball well."

Mills completed only three of 14 passes — but the first was a big one that got the Vikes started. On second down and 10 at the Mills 38, quarterback Bart Jackson hit receiver Mark Salvoni with a deep pass over the middle for a 62-yard touchdown. Salvoni had lined up at left tackle, but was an eligible receiver because Mills' split end on the left side had lined up as a flanker; the ploy caught Burlingame off-guard, and Salvoni was wide open.

The Vikes made it 13-0 on their next possession when halfback Brian Wisecarver scored on a one-yard plunge off right tackle. The drive covered 48 yards and Wisecarver's score came on Mills' ninth-straight running play. Fullback Steve Cox carried five times during the march for 35 yards.

After an interception by Zucca gave the Vikes possession at the Burlingame 30 early in the second quarter, the Panther defense recovered a fumble. But Mills broke Burlingame's back in the final minute of the first half when Viking defender Mike Bacciocco recovered a Panther fumble and lateraled the ball to cornerback Ron Gianotti when hit; Gianotti streaked 46 yards down the sideline for a touchdown. A two-point blast by Cox made it 23-0 at the intermission.

Burlingame got back into the game — temporarily — when the Panthers put together an 86-yard touchdown drive on their second possession after the break. The big gainer in the 10-play march came when split end Tim Hackett stepped back to take a lateral pass from Hesselgren, turned and floated a bomb downfield to tight end Matt Kircher. He made the grab for a 49-yard gain. Four plays later, Hesselgren plowed across on fourth and goal. A two-point pass from Hesselgren to Kircher made it 23-8.

With 10 and a half minutes remaining, however, Burlingame went for a first down on fourth and nine at its own 21 — and failed when Hesselgren, forced to throw under heavy pressure, was intercepted by Gianotti at the 26. Four plays later, Gianotti scored on a one-yard smash.

St. Andrew's Takes Three

This week in the girls volleyball league sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, the St. Andrew's Scots made it three victories in the 6th grade league.

Florie Spadari and Silvia Martinez led the way for the undefeated Scots with a win over the Sal Superstars. The upset of the day came when the St. Thomas More Saints combined a great team effort to defeat Holy Angels 12-15, 15-6 and 16-14. Karen Hammell played well for the Angeles. Our Lady of Mercy Reds received a fine performance from Michelle Ahern and Leanne Undner to defeat St. Andrew Blues 15-11 and 15-3.

The Blues were led by Judi Jones and Evonne Sanchez. The O.L.M. Whites defeated a determined Sal Panthers team 15-11 and 15-4.

The fifth grade division had some fine action with the O.L.M. Whites defeated the St. Andrew Saints 15-9 and 15-0. Kristine Reich, Sue Garvey and Raquel Dahud served and played well for O.L.M. The S.A.L. Stomper defeated the O.L.M. Reds, and Holy Angels hung on to defeat the St. Andrew Scots.

The St. Andrew Scots remain undefeated with a win over the S.A.L. Angels 15-0 and 15-4 in the fourth grade division. Helene Gobert and Diane Yelinek led the way for the Scots, with Marian O'Connor playing well for S.A.L. O.L.M. Olympians with a fine comeback defeated Holy Angels 10-15, 15-10 and 15-13. Nellie Janini and Rosolyn Dannezy had a fine performance for O.L.M.

7th Grade Division

After losing to the O.L.M. Whites 15 to 6, the Holy Angels volleyball squad won the next two games 15-5 and 15-12 to take the match. Doing a fine job for Holy Angels were Stacy Hutchinson and Patty Wenquist. while Ivette Romero, Liz Harrison and Jackie Martin performed well for the Whites.

The S.A.L. Bumpers stopped the Saints in two Games 15-8 and 15-7. Collecting 12 points on the serving line was Bernadette Charboreau while her team mate for S.A.L. Lori Valls scored 7. Dana Kujawa played well for the Saints.

In other action, the O.L.M. Reds mowed down the Wildflowers 15-1 and 15-3 to harvest a win. Joyce Walsh and Adrienne Sanpietro sparked the Reds while Sophia Avarez and Melissa Candau played well for the Wildflowers.

8th Grade Division

In the Eighth Grade Division the Scots scratched out two close victories 16-14 and 15-12 to win a very exciting match over the O.L.M. Reds. Playing very well for the Scots were Maryann Martinez and Cynthia Saisi while Leslie Pult and Judy Florres did an equally fine job for the Reds.

The Whites and the Blues played a close first game ending in a White win 15-12 but the Blues could not get it together in the second game, which resulted in a 15-0 shutout win for the Whites.

Judy Pardini dealt 15 straight serves to the Blues and scored on all of them thus securing a two match victory of 2-0 for the Whites. Also doing a really good job for the Whites were Sandy Fervari and Anne Sullivan.

Four Unbeaten In Flag Football

After two weeks of exciting football action in the Daly City Recreation Division flag football leagues the Colma Trojans, Daly City Dons, Westlake Park and F.D.R. Raiders remain undefeated in the 7th and 8th grade division.

The Daly City Dons have defeated M.P. Brown 64-0 and Marchbanks Park 6-0 to record their two victories. Laughlin and Baldwin have been leading the potent Dons offense.

The Colma Trojans have downed the Bayshore Bulls 40-14 and then they edged the Lincoln Park Continentals 16-6. The Trojans have received touchdown power from Joselito Gonzaga, Tony Roelgen, Ken Cooper and Washington.

The F.D.R. Raiders have played excellent defense and have claimed 6-0 and 12-0 victories over M.P. Brown and Lincoln Park. Kenny Wilcox, Arnold and Jose Sanchez have produced the winning touchdown for the Raiders.

In other action, Westlake Park has defeated Marchbanks Park 8-6 and Bayshore 6-0 to remain tied for first place.

In the 5th and 6th grade division the Daniel Webster Wizards downed the Panorama Pirates 8-6 as Jason McLay scored the decisive conversion for the Wizards. Melvin Purvey scored for Panorama and Craig Constantion equaled the score with a touchdown for the Wizards.

Westlake Park edged Marchbanks Park 8-6 behind Sean O'Connell's touchdown run.

Skyline came back to defeat Marchbanks 26-0 with Mike Heintz, Jody Hasting, Larry Winton and Jackie Bonfiglio supplying the touchdowns.

Pads Nod To 'Cats

SAN FRANCISCO — Serra High's football team succumbed to a superior running game Friday as St. Ignatius downed the visiting Padres 14-7.

The loss drops Serra's West Catholic Athletic League record to 1-2. St. Ignatius is now 2-2.

The Wildcats were able to control the ball throughout the contest on the ground. SI netted 239 ground yards. Halfback Charles Williams ground out 171 yards on 37 carries, accounting for most of it.

St. Ignatius broke open a scoreless game in the third period with two scores.

Serra rallied to make it 14-7 with 6:45 left to play on a three-yard run by junior Greg Funk. The Padres also got the ball back with 0:40 left, but couldn't move it.

Knights Beat Cap

Hillsdale High's potent running attack overpowered visiting Capuchino 29-0 Friday in a Mid-Peninsula League contest.

Hillsdale set the tone of the game on its first possession by marching 51 yards in 11 plays, with halfback Manny Crumb going over from the one to put the Knights ahead 6-0.

Moving exclusively on the ground, Hillsdale pushed its way to the Capuchino 17-yard line on its next drive before fumbling. But three plays later Knight linebacker Vinnie Roche intercepted a pass on the eight-yard line and glided into the end zone for Hillsdale's second score. Charlie Brown's PAT run made it 14-0.

Midway through the second period Hillsdale ran through Cap's porous defense again, moving 66 yards on 11 running plays. Brown capped the drive with a 13-yard scoring run. Crumb's conversion run gave Hillsdale a 22-0 halftime lead.

Hillsdale's final tally came on the first play of the fourth quarter. Jeff Metter rambled 66 yards on a quarterack keeper.

Metter led the Knights in rushing with 115 yards on ten carries. Also pacing Hillsdale's balanced ground game were Jim McNinch (14-78), Brown (15-74) and Crumb (7-61).

One bright spot for Capuchino was the pass-catch combination of Tom Fell and big tight end Greg Ley. Ley caught eight pases for 95 yards. Fell completed 18 of 30 pass attempts for 176 yards but had three intercepted.

Pork Steaks Make A Mealtime Variety

Good morning, good cooks.

If you're looking for mealtime variety in the meat case, when your eye reaches pork steaks you need look no further.

By using your imagination and providing a little special attention, pork blade stakes are a candidate for many especially appetizing autumn meals.

The recipe for Pork Steak and Bean Bake is a good example of how these tasty steaks can be used to enhance a savory bean casserole conveniently made from cupboard shelf ingredients.

PORK STEAK AND BEAN BAKE

- 2 or 3 pork blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
- 1 teasoon salt
- ½ cup catsup
- 2 Tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 Tablespoon vinegar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 can (16 ounces) pork and beans
- 1 can (16 ounes) lima beans or butter beans, drained
- 1 can (15 ounces) kidney or red beans, drained

Brown the steaks on both sides in large frying pan, remove and season with one teaspoon salt. Add the half cup catsup, two tablespoons vinegar and ½ teaspoon salt to pan drippings, stirring to combine. Lightly stir in pork and beans, lima or butter beans and kidney or red beans.

Place bean mixture in a Dutch oven or an 11½x8-inch baking dish. Place steaks on top of beans, cover tightly and bake in slow oven (325) degrees 1 hour. Remove cover and continue baking for 15 minutes.

Six servings.

Parenthood Class

A Red Cross Preparation for Parenthood class will be offered beginning Nov. 8 for six consecutive Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 at the home of Anne Garrett, Daly City.

Course content includes simple exercises for the expectant mother, the birth and delivery process, preparing the house for baby's arrival, bathing, feeding and other needs, and baby's growth and development through the first year.

The Preparation for Parenthood classes contain much useful information for the expectant parents, adoptive parents, single parents and grandparents wishing to brush up on baby caring skills. The course may be attended any time during the pregnancy.

A fee of $3 per family is asked to cover the cost of course materials.

Class size is limited. For details call 589-5864.

Lucero Accused Of Jail Assault

The troubles of Daniel Lucero, the ex-Vietnam GI whose headline history began more than four years ago when he was awarded custody of his illegitimate, 4-year-old son, continued Wednesday when he was charged with sexually assaulting another inmate at the county jail in Redwood City.

The incident resulted in cancellation of the scheduled wedding in the jail chapel of Lucero and his girl friend. Sheriff's Capt. Grant Davis, director of corrections facilities for the Sheriff's Office, said he felt calling off the wedding was the right thing to do under the circumstances.

Lucero, 24, of 215 Golden Bay Drive, Pacifica, was charged with sodomy, conspiracy and assault and battery after a 20-year-old Daly City man accused him of sexually assaulting him twice in the shower of a jail tank, Sheriff's Deputy Don Wright reported.

Two other inmates, Brent Michael Donovan, 24, of 280 San Felipe Ave., San Bruno, and Arthur Estrada, 29, of 1938 Barton Ave., Redwood City, had charges filed against them as a result of the incident, Wright reported.

Donovan was re-booked at the county jail on charges of conspiracy and being an accessory to sodomy, while Estrada was accused of assault and battery, conspiracy and being an accessory to sodomy, Wright reported.

The victim told jailers that Estrada and Donovan had given him a bag which they said contained heroin and ordered him to hide it in case of a jail shakedown, Detective Lt. Brendan Maguire reported. He said the victim hid the bag under his mattress and went to dinner. When he returned to the tank, he told jailers, the bag was missing.

Estrada and Donovan told him the heroin was worth $200 and he would either have to pay for it or perform sexual acts. He said Estrada took a swing at him, but he dodged.

He said that Lucero ordered him into the shower twice, each time sexually assaulting him.

The victim originally was booked at the jail by Daly City police for brandishing a weapon and resisting arrest, according to Maguire. He said Lucero was returned recently to the county jail from the Deuel Vocational Institute near Tracy, where he had been serving time for robbery, burglary and violation of probation.

Lucero was given custody of his illegitimate son, who had been living with a Belmont family for three years, on March 8, 1973. The case was taken all the way to the state Supreme Court after the Belmont couple attempted to regain custody of the child.

After subsequent arrests of Lucero, the boy was placed in the custody of Lucero's mother, Eve, of Pacifica.

Lucero at one time during his numerous court appearances was described by his probation officer as a heroin addict.

Some Views on Unification

The phones rang off their hooks and my ears grew weary as people called to express their opinions of our suggestion that the "North County" unite into one city.

Here are a few representative statements:

"Daly City, Colma, Brisbane, Broadmoor; have you ever seen a more confusing gluepot?"

"You're in California, buddy; not Tennessee or Idaho or Indiana. Out here people don't unite."

"My children go to school in Daly City, my wife shops in Colma and Daly City, I work in Brisbane; but I'm from Broadmoor and proud of it."

"I've always lived in Brisbane, but I'm from Broadmoor and proud of it."

"I've always lived in Colma; I have no orientation to Daly City."

"Of course they should unite."

"It's nothing but emotion that keeps us apart. Technically we're all one, anyway."

"One city, one voice, 41one people — why not?

"I'm tired of Broadmoor and Colma people kicking Daly City around. Who cares if they join us or not? What can they do for us but bring us their headaches?"

Samuel Chandler

Of special interest was a phone call from a woman who said, "I reserve judgement until I see if Daly City people have the ability to cooperate to redevelop Mission Street."

There were others. Of those who called, more favored the "one city" concept than opposed it. It seems that these citizens are echoing the words of many noted thinkers, among them eight writers who joined James W. Fesler to write "The Fifty States and Their Local Governments" (Knopf. 1968). In a chapter on Intergovernmental Relations, they write:

"In the past, local governments, like sovereign nations, tended to go their own way. But nowadays, they are becoming increasingly aware of their dependence, not only on their parent states, but also on their neighboring and overlapping local units. This interdependence is a product of crowding and mobility; it is both the cause and the product of specialization and communication; and it teaches cooperation as a price of getting things done."

The authors write that "The most thoroughgoing structural solution (to problems) is merger, by consolidation or federation, to form a new metropolitan government with boundaries and powers sufficiently enlarged to cope with the range of problems that frustrate smaller units."

The response to our recent column shows that there are people in Northern San Mateo County who believe the time to merge, to consolidate, has come.

Dickens Fair Returns

The 20th Century will once again welcome the return of the 19th Century Christmas world of Charles Dickens with the opening of the Great Dickens Christmas Fair & Pickwick Comic Annual at the Cow Palace for five weekends Nov. 19-Dec. 18.

Visitors may celebrate the "Spirit of Christmas Past" in an authentic re-creation of London entertainment halls, theatres, pubs and street fairs during the Christmas season at the time of Charles Dickens, circa 1850, where shopkeepers offer superlative handcrafted items and special caterers revitalize century-old English culinary traditions.

Men Robbed in DC; Pacifica Bar Holdup

Two men were robbed of their personal belongings and approximately $700 in cash Thursday in Daly City.

Police said Sanghea Chang, 34, of 30 Poncetta Drive, Daly City, and Taseak Kang, 32, of Burlingame, were walking along Poncetta Drive to Chang's home at 3:50 a.m. when two black women and a white man approached.

According to police, the women produced handguns and ordered the victims to lie down on the sidewalk while the trio robbed them.

The robbers were seen departing in a "greenish" compact car with a fastback, possibly a Datsun, police said.

The suspects are believed to be 20 to 30 years old.

In Pacifica, a man armed with a sawed-off shotgun robbed the Sea Horse Bar at 2017 Palmetto Ave. of approximately $150 shortly after 10 last Wednesday, but did not rob any patrons, police reported.

Costly Sidewalk Repairs in S.S.F.

By JANET PARKER

South San Francisco should be spending $200,000 a year to adequately repair damaged sidewalks, the City Council learned last Wednesday.

Councilmen also learned that Finance Director Bill Anderson is checking out a list of 300 businesses which may not be paying proper business license fees.

And, they considered the validity of a new ordinance which would give Building Inspector Roy Ghilardi more muscle in demanding repairs to unsafe buildings.

The long-debated sidewalk repair situation sparked the most debate in the council's monthly study session.

It prompted Councilman Dick Battaglia to attempt again to return the responsibility for sidewalk repairs to the individual property owners.

Mayor Emanuele Damonte also indicated he might favor ending the city's agreement to pay for such repairs.

Public Services Director Frank Addiego explained that planter strips between sidewalks and gutters need repair throughout the city.

He said it would cost $32,000 merely to fill all the planter boxes with dirt, making them level with the street.

It would cost $90,000 to fill them with concrete and end the annual maintenance problem, except for the sidewalk cracks that it is estimated would accur every 40 years.

Several years ago, the council ended a long tradition in which the city repaired all sidewalks.

The unwritten policy was reversed and the council formally decided residents would pay for the repairs, as in most other cities.

However, the present council — over Battaglia's objection — reversed that policy and returned the responsibility to the city. Presently, $47,000 annually is allocated for such repairs.

Addiego said that with that amount, it would take 252 years to replace every square foot of sidewalk in the city — some 114 miles of concrete. The average life of a sidewalk, he pointed out, is 40 years.

But, the planter strips are the immediate problem, since the city is responsible for maintaining them, too, he said.

"We've got to do something about it," he warned.

Councilman William Borba suggested eliminating the strips and widening the streets. But, Addiego pointed out that telephone poles, fire hydrants, water meters and trees are located in the strips, complicating the situation.

"We don't know what we are going to do," Addiego said. "It's going to cost a lot of money."

Battaglia interjected that when the city agreed to repair sidewalks, a position he adamantly opposed, it "bit off more than it can chew."

"That's a lot of baloney," Councilman Leo Padreddii interrupted.

"That's why I was always against it," Battaglia continued.

A city can't provide everything for its residents, he said in calling for abandoning both the sidewalk and planter strip repair programs and returning the responsibility to property owners.

"Mr. Battaglia insists this ordinance is incorrect," Councilman Terry Mirri responded, adding that it's been in his colleague's head for months. Property owners, he said, are not getting a "free ride," because they pay for the repairs through taxes.

He urged that planter strip repair be a priority expenditure.

Then, Damonte suggested that Battaglia's arguments may be correct.

Wall

residents went up more than the average $40 per household Proposition U proponents said it would.

But he said supporters of the measure could not have foreseen how much higher property would be revalued in the county-wide reassessment just completed.

"I don't think anyone could have know that the district's worth would increase from $12 to $22 million," Wall added.

The candidate said he's angry at the budget the commission has produced with the maximum $327,000 revenue.

He pointed out considerable increases in several categories, including maintenance of equipment, which went from $5,000 in 1976-77 to $15,000 in 1977-78 and office expenses which jumped from $1,000 last year to $5,000 for the current fiscal year.

"This does not look like a careful budget to me," he said. "I'm a businessman and I do things for certain amounts of money."

Though both Davenport and McCloskey have said the budget is meant to cover the possible costs of litigation resulting from a $150,000 lawsuit they don't believe is covered by district insurance, Wall believes this is the wrong approach.

"Are those guys setting themselves up as judge and jury?" he questioned. "Are they saying it's been settled already? I don't think that's right."

Wall also doesn't think it's proper to move money from one budgeted category to another, as McCloskey said the commission intends to do in case the district has to pay for the lawsuit in question.

McCloskey, in turn, has criticized Wall for the resident's involvement in the lawsuit against McCloskey and Davenport for approving a seven-year, non-cancellable service contract with Daly City.

The contract was killed by the court action against it in June. Wall was one of nine petitioners against the contract.

"I don't have anything against Daly City, no ax to grind," Wall said. "If 50 per cent of the district residents want to go to Daly City, I would be right along with them."

But Wall believes that residents want their independent Police Department once again and he is confident that a $9,800 insurance quotation can help to get it underway.

The $9,800 quotation from Burlingame insurance agent Gregory Comaroto was brought before the commission by Wall in September. The commission subsequently requested answers to specific questions about the proposal, which Davenport and McCloskey charge have not been provided.

Wall, in turn, charges that the commissioners' actions have been directed towards killing the possible liability insurance, including complaints by McCloskey to Comaroto's supervisor and insurance regulatory representatives.

"The reason they (the commissioners) can't get insurance for the department is that they are not looking for it," Wall said. "These guys were notified in April, 1976, that Hartford (the former insurer) probably would not renew the policy. They've been sitting around on their thumbs."

The candidate said in the event it is not possible to return to an independent department, he would seek a service contract with the San Mateo County Sheriff's Department.

Wall has received criticism from his opponents concerning his presidency of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association. The BPOA is a property improvement association, not a political group, they charge.

The BPOA president said he believes there would be no conflict between serving as a BPOA officer and as a Police Commissioner.

McCloskey

stand has been vindicated.

"I got great criticism for not endorsing or supporting Proposition U (a 1976 referendum which won 70 percent of the voters' support) to double the district's tax rate," he recalled.

"But the supporters of Proposition U led the people down the primrose path," he continued. "It did not save the Police Department, the policemen's jobs or cost an average household $40.

"My own police tax went from $69 to $208," he added. "We are paying more for nothing. Most of the people in the county are laughing at us."

To those who charge that Proposition U gave permission to raise the tax rate but that McCloskey was responsible for setting it at its maximum $1.50 per $100, the commission chairman has a ready response.

"The maximum tax rate and budget were set by the commission primarily to pay the cost of litigation — the litigation filed by the people against the Daly City contract and the Johnson lawsuit," he said.

McCloskey referred to a suit filed by nine Broadmoor and Daly City residents which stopped a permanent, seven - year contract between Daly City and the Broadmoor Police Protection District. The matter has been in the courts three times and the suit is expected to come to trial in the future.

The commission chairman also referred to a $150,000 police assault lawsuit filed against Commissioner Wayne Johnson, for an incident which allegedly occurred in 1976.

McCloskey said that since Johnson was acting as a police commissioner, rather than a sworn peace officer, the commission may not be covered by insurance if the case is lost.

Since the commission also is charged along with Johnson, it may be responsible for the $150,000 settlement plus court costs, according to McCloskey.

Johnson and McCloskey have clashed often on the issue of the Daly City contract. McCloskey blames the Johnson suit for the cancellation of the district insurance last Dec. 31.

But McCloskey believes that a continuing Daly City contract for police services is more economical than resurrecting an independent police department.

"It's the most efficient means to an end," he said.

McCloskey compares the Daly City proposed price tag of $206,000 with what he estimates as a $250,000 to $300,000 cost of running an independent department.

He dismisses a $9,800 insurance quotation from Broadmoor candidate Randy Wall.

"We still have to know the facts and figures," he said. "Wall is playing political games with the insurance question. He produces a partial quote on a partial coverage, but he never has submitted it to the Police Commission."

McCloskey said critics of the district's $327,000 budget who charge that it is inflated in several operational categories do not understand that the commission just established a litigation account.

Since the category had to be established as a new account, the excess funds from other areas such as household and maintenance expenses now can be transferred into the litigation account, he said.

"My goal is to stabilize police protection with a contract with Daly City," he concluded.

Parks Chief Resigns

A $20,000-a-year high-level San Bruno municipal employee has resigned and two of his subordinates are expected to quit, San Bruno City Manager Gerald Minford disclosed.

Minford said Park Superintendent Donald Piana, 33, who has been in charge of more than 25 employees, left his job last week and that resignations are expected from Robert Attienza, 34, of South San Francisco, and Mark Teeley, 20, of San Bruno.

Davenport

El Camino Real and Junipero Serra Boulevard.

LAFCO decided not to consider any applications for detachment until after the Broadmoor elections, a result of requests by Davenport's opponents.

Challengers Randy Wall and Joseph Fillo believe they can get the independent Broadmoor Police Department going again, but Davenport is skeptical.

He's skeptical that an independent department will prevent annexations to Daly City or Colma and he's dubious that the district will find suitable liability insurance.

Davenport has said that Broadmoor is not attractive to insurers because it is a single purpose district. The commissioner said he contacted 18 to 20 insurance companies months ago with the same result — there was little to no interest in insuring the district.

He is critical of a $9,800 quotation from candidate Wall.

"We've never received a written proposal that answers our questions, he said. The quotation from Wall, he said, does not insure the district vehicles.

"I wouldn't put an officer in a car that wasn't covered," he commented.

There are other problems with resurrecting the Police Department he said. The department has been defunct since Dec. 31, 1976.

"Two of our officers have joined the Daly City Police Department," he said. "Another one is in the hospital. If you have to hire new people, it takes them a year before they know what they're doing. We don't pay the money to pirate experienced personnel."

Davenport estimates it would cost $275,000 yearly to get the department going again, considering that it must find insurance at a probably higher rate and fill a vacancy that existed previously.

The commission secretary met with the San Mateo County Sheriff's Department some months ago and filed a report estimating that a sheriff's contract would cost $244,000.

"Daly City is doing a hell of a job (under a present temporary, six-month contract) and I don't think we can beat the cost of $206,000 a year," he said.

Davenport pointed out that the Daly City offers have addressed the eventuality of detachments from the district.

"The contract with Daly City provides that we pay a dollar amount for service. Should there be any detachment from the district, the contract cost would be reduced by formulating the assessed value of the property," he said.

The commissioner, who has lived at 423 91st St., unincorporated Colma, since 1971, defended the commission's adoption of the maximum $1.50 per $100 tax rate.

"At the present time, there are over $1 million in claims against the district," he said. "In the event that the insurance company refuses to pay claims that are lost in court, we must be prepared to pay."

Fillo

enport for their support of a contract with Daly City.

"Almost every move they have made has been directed towards Daly City," he said. "It ends right there."

Fillo, the last to enter the four-way Broadmoor race, has been running a similar campaign to that of challenger Randy Wall.

He said he wasn't a sponsor of Proposition U, the measure to double the tax rate if necessary to support the independent department, but he agreed with its principle.

"We should put the department back in business," he said. "That's what the people voted for."

He believes that a $9,800 liability insurance quotation can be accepted and implemented to start up the department, if he and Wall are elected. The insurance quotation has been the subject of some debate on its completeness by the current commission.

"I'm sure we can handle it," he said of getting insurance. "The state of California has many small communities which have police departments and they all have insurance."

Fillo estimates that the current annual cost of running a seven-person Broadmoor department would amount to about $230,000.

"I'm frugal," he said in response of other candidates' estimates that have ranged up to $275,000.

He said he's upset over the commission action a few months ago to raise the tax rate to its maximum $1.50 per $100 level and adopt a $327,000 maximum budget.

He doesn't accept an explanation by McCloskey and Davenport that the budget must cover the eventuality that the commission may lose a pending $150,000 lawsuit and be required to pay it.

He said a budget should be prepared to cover actual expenses at the time.

"My tax bill hit me right here," Fillo thumped his chest. "I'm paying the increased Broadmoor police tax because the commission set it at the maximum."

In the event that the new commission can't get the department going once again, Fillo said he would seek three service bids — from Daly City, Colma and the County Sheriff's Department.

He believes, however, that the two-month span of service with the Sheriff's Department in July and August gave the unincorporated area "better coverage."

But he doesn't think Broadmoor will need to go to outside contracts, if he is elected.

He added that it would not be difficult to find competent officers to replace several who have transferred to Daly City.

"I think it would only be difficult to select the best," he said.

Fillo believes that the San Mateo County Local Agency Formation Commission would consider rescinding its policy that will allow piecemeal annexations, come December, if election results indicate the commission will establish the district department once again.

Stabbing Victim Critical

A 22-year-old man, stabbed during an argument in a card room near downtown San Mateo Sunday, was reported in critical condition today at Mills Memorial Hospital.

Reggie Moss, of 23 N. Idaho St., underwent surgery for a puncture wound in the upper left chest. He was placed in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Police were summoned to Majors Club, 21 S. Railroad Ave., at 2:57 a.m. They found Moss unconscious, his clothes soaked with blood.

Witnesses told police the victim was involved in a scuffle with two other men following a verbal altercation.

Two men sought for questioning later surrendered to police. Henry James Pritchett, 22, of 7 S. Railroad Ave., was booked at county jail and held for questioning.

Each issue of The Post and San Bruno Publications will be considered as consecutive insertions and must be taken to qualify for consecutive insertion rate. San Bruno newspapers are published Wednesday and Friday. The Post is published Wednesday.

ACCEPTABILITY: The Times reserves the right to reject, censor and properly classify any advertisement.

THE FIRST WORD of each 8 point type ad will be spelled out. Abbreviations will be accepted on the first word in 12 point or larger type lines. However, any ad that does not begin with an alphabetical character will not be in alphabetical sequence.

DEADLINE: Classified advertising must be placed by 3:00 p.m. day preceding publication, Monday through Friday, 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication and 48 hours preceding holidays.

CANCELLATION: Cancellation orders must be received before 3:00 p.m. on the day preceding publication for all line advertisements appearing in The Times from Tuesday through Saturday and before 12 noon Saturday for Monday's publication. Display Classified must be cancelled in writing 48 hours prior to publication date.

ERRORS: No responsibility is assumed by publisher for errors in any advertisement covered by order, nor for the omission of any advertisement in whole or in part, nor for failure to comply with the placement of advertising as ordered either as to frequency or volume. In no event shall publisher be liable for special damages or consequential damages even if it has been notified of the possibility of such damages.

Errors in published advertisements must be reported immediately; and if done, publisher will publish an appropriate correction and where publisher deems it necessary a rerun of the advertisement as corrected, if in publisher's judgment the error substantially varies the meaning of the advertisement as ordered. Such corrections will be made only as to those advertisements which are ordered for one insertion, and as to the first insertion only when ordered for more than one insertion.
